— ALL OF US HAVE BEEN AFFECTED THIS YEAR BY MORE NEW RULES AND A SOUR ATMOSPHERE IN GENERAL.

IN ORDER TO FACE & RISE ABOVE THIS NEGATIVITY WE HAVE ATTEMPTED TO FIND THINGS TO LAUGH AT. HUMOR HAS A WAY OF MAKING SOME THINGS LOOK BETTER. SO, HERE IS A DAY IN THE LIFE OF GOOD OLD BASH WITH A DASH OF HUMOR.

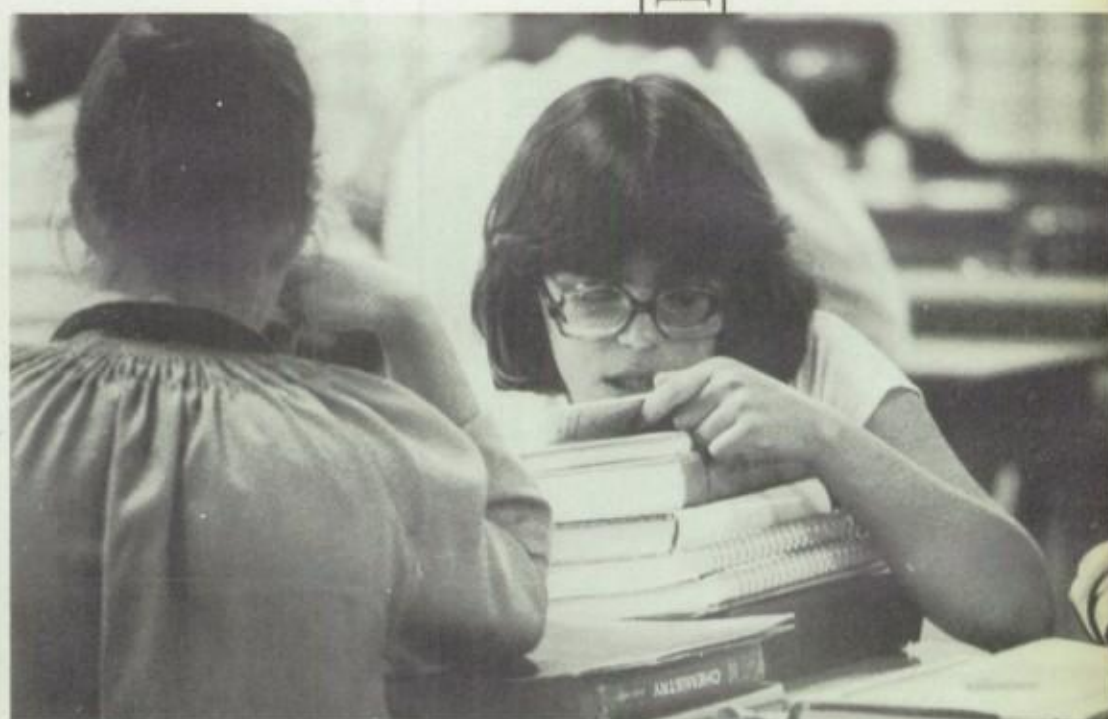

I don't want to be negative - but who wrote this lousy paragraph? SEE WHAT WE MEAN?! BUT WE CAN EVEN LAUGH AT THIS.

It has always been hard for me to get to school.
The hardest part is getting up.
Walking to school is alright if it's not cold.

The fog is thick and the yellow-leaves stick together in the gutters.

The papers along the sidewalk have frost on them and so do the windshields and so do some leaves.
you can smell things too;
sometimes pollution, sometimes rain, sometimes rotting leaves.

I guess walking to school has some benefits...

... At least I'm a little more awake
by the time I get there.

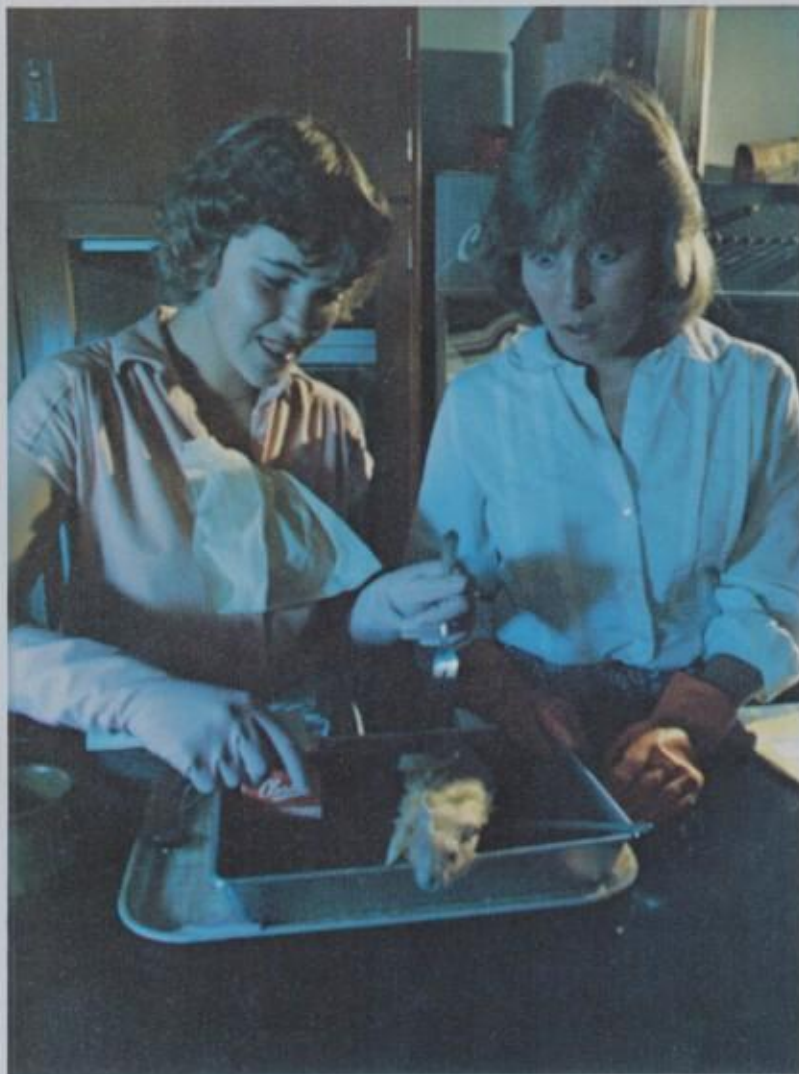

"Good morning, will all homerooms please observe a moment of silent regurgitation . . . Will all homerooms please rise and pledge allegiance to the flag . . . The morning announcements are as follows: The Shingas Sales deadline is this Friday. Books must be purchased in homeroom period before then, unless there is another extension. There will be a meeting after school for all students interested in intramural embroidery . . .

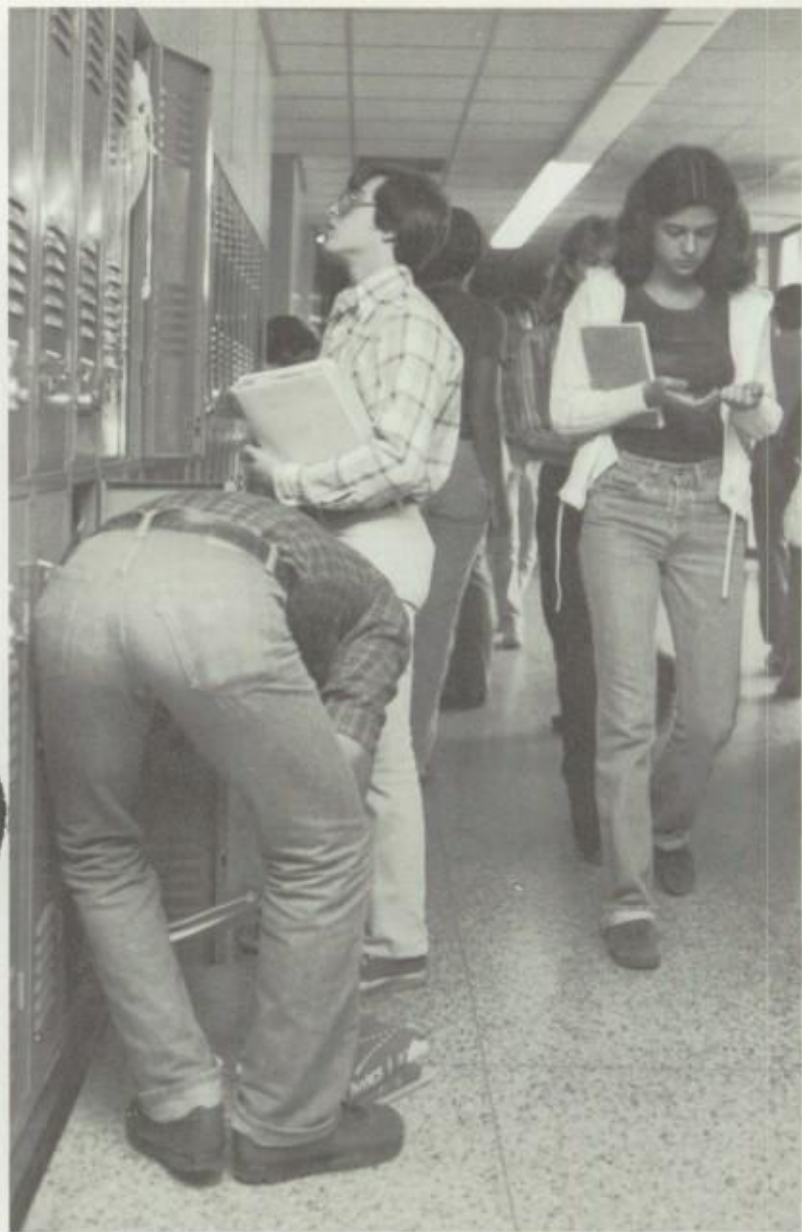

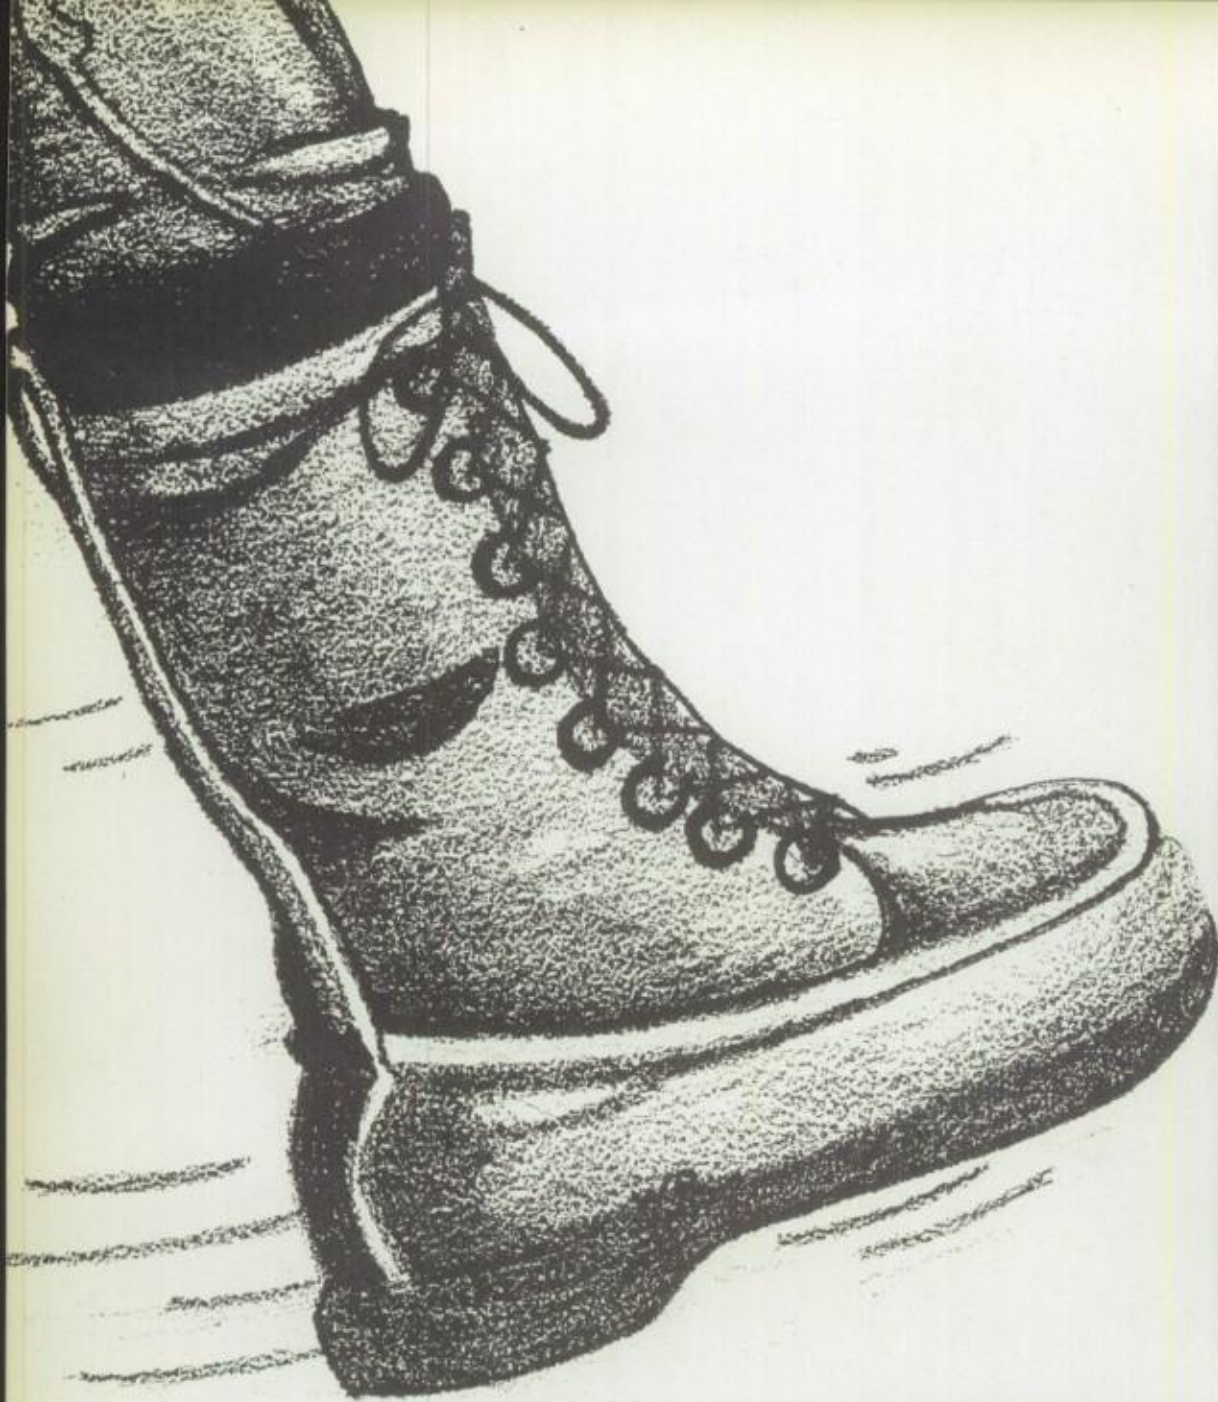

School will be dismissed at 10:54 due to the possible invasion of interstellar ameobas landing in the Borough Parking Lot and overrunning the county. There is no cause for alarm since any ameobas caught without a hall pass will be given three days in the rubber room. In the event of a takeover, please be on the look-out for any suspicious looking creatures impersonating staff. I repeat, there is no cause for Allaaa rr r m m . . . " so much work,

so much discipline,
so much routine,
so much school,

time off to go insane, insanity will get you first
— Amy

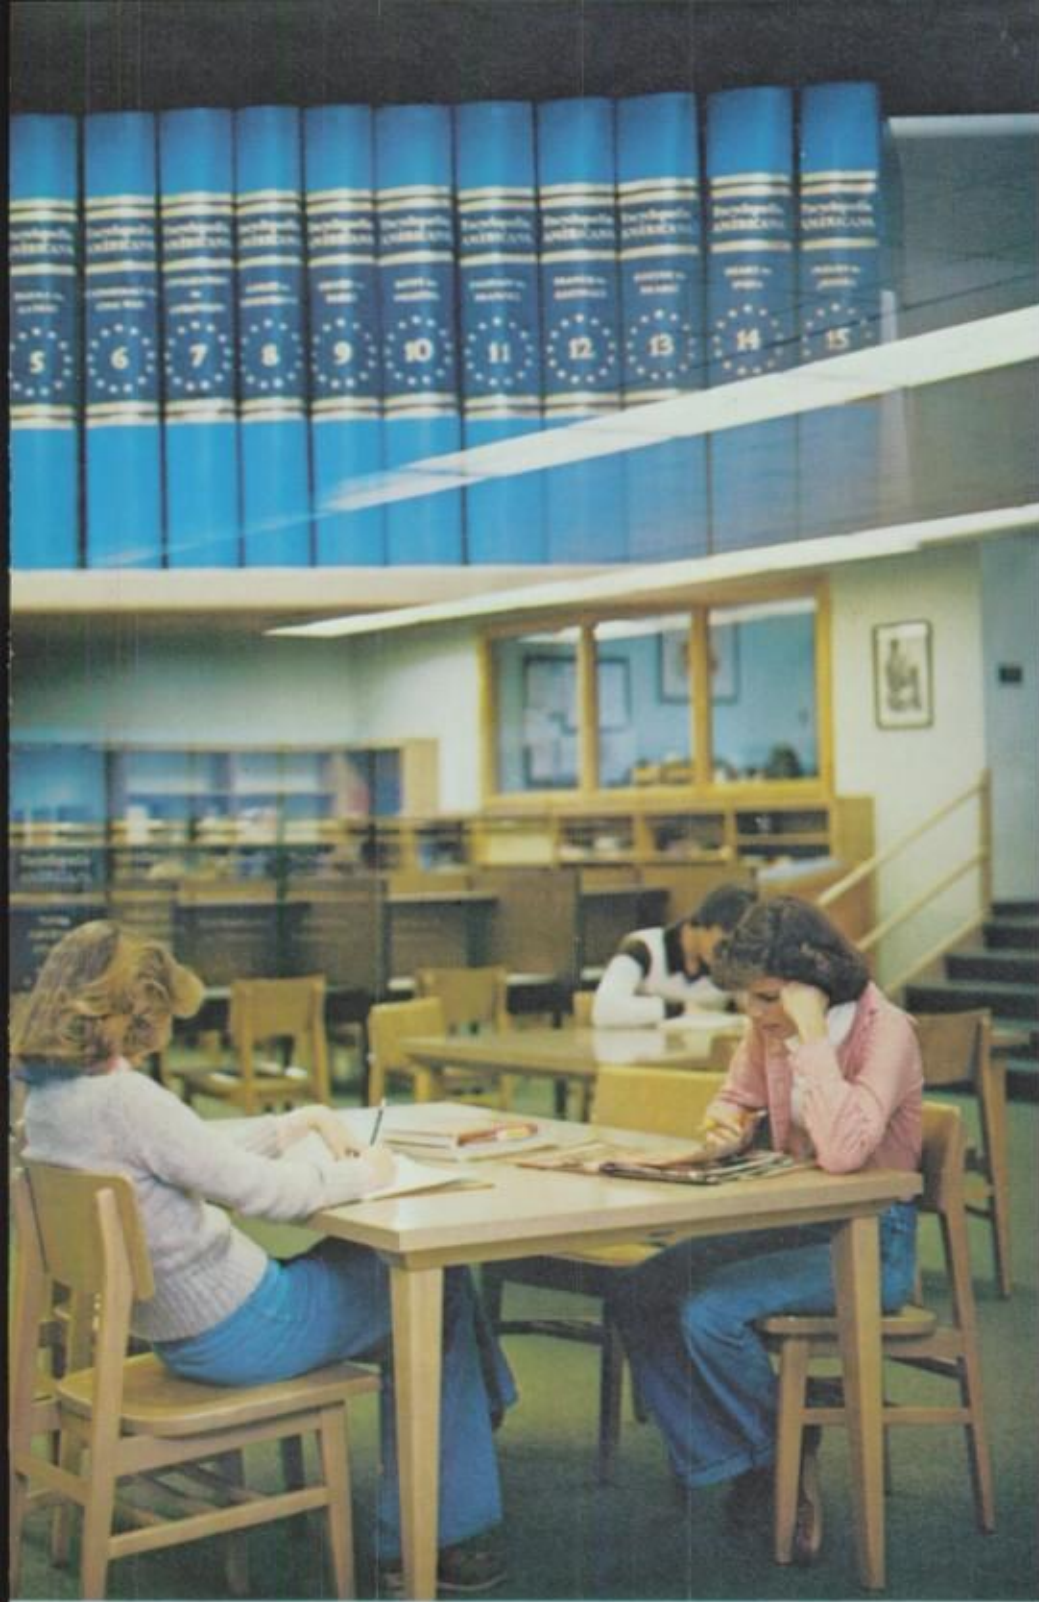

As a freshman, I was ready for High School. I had my books and pencils to use as tools, friends to roam the halls with, floor plan memorized, and even an Elevator Pass. Now, after four years in High School, I can look like I know where I'm going and really have no idea at all.

FASTER AND FASTER TO NOWHERE

Somebody tell me
how I got in here.

Tell me
how do I get out
Go on running faster.
Faster and faster to nowhere cause the school's closing tighter and tighter around me.

It's a nightmare,
daymare; it's a badmare,
no matter which way mare.
How did I get in here?

You put me in here.
Somebody help me get out of here.
I need you please, help!

People pushing, shoving Rushing on into the future.
Windows opening, closing
In a way that they just never used to.
Oh there's violence, lurking
In the halls where no one should dare go.

So keep running faster
faster and faster to nowhere.
You put me in here. You're responsible.
You'd better help me somebody.
The school's closing in on me.

Please — — help!
Into nowhere, into nowhere.
Faster, faster
Nowhere.

HIGH AT THE WHITE HOUSE

I'm sure

*and now's the time to say, "farewell."
so good-bye, my friend, good-bye*

Yes freshman, this is where to find YOUR homeroom picture. The process is very simple. First of all, spit on an index finger. Next, place the hand (that you don't pledge allegiance with) on the edge of this page. Now turn past the junior and sophomore sections (alternate finger wetting and page turning) until you reach Freshman Homerooms. Finally, seek out your very own picture.

Hey sophomores, we know that by now you have a vague idea of how this works. So, we've designed a shortened course especially for you: spit, turn, and look. Now, Juniors, you probably don't even care about your homeroom picture. So, we suggest you turn to the senior section and substitute a picture for your finger in the spitting process.

"What's an activity?"

"It's a group of people in a club."

"Do you run around and score lots of points so you can wear a big 'B'?"

"No, those are athletics."

"Do you become real popular and all the girls like you?"

"Uh, no, not really."

"Do you make drastic changes in the school to help the kids?"

"Huh? Hardly."

"If you're president, do you get hall priveleges?"

"Hall priveleges? What are those?"

"Do you get paid for all the time you put in?"

"No way."

"Then why'd you join?"

"Uh . . ."

but Nat is singing on key!
 hey Ward — how's the administration page coming?
 it'll go down in history — the maroon and silver cover battle.
 who's going for pop?
 you mean the mints are all gone? — all 20 rolls?
 Brad — how's your ulcer?
 silly, silly, silly ...
 the Shingas room? oh, it's in 306 — you know, that cute little cubby hole behind that cute little wall ... uh-oh, back off — Morgan's got a marker.
 well Lisa, it happened while you were roughing it in Florida ...
 cosmic ... — Ward
 gee Pat, we don't know how that snow got in the stall.
 hey George you look ugly today. Did you do that just for us?
 I get no respect ... — Jennie we are standing on a dung heap.
 Amy, there's no use denying it — we know you typed this.
 CHIT!!!!!! well Mary, the reason your lunch is gone is because, well, um ... let's check the list: 1 ketchup, 2 salt shakers, 2 napkin dispensers, 180 rolls T.P., 3 glasses, 2 road markers, 1 for sale sign ... what was the matter with Chuck's tea?
 Dirk, this cake is, well, uh, ... it's different.

Chief Chingas rides again with George-make-a-buck hot on the trail.
 Pat will do it wait a sec, scratch that. Someone else will do it.
 oh, your sight must be failing — the door isn't missing.
 well, I wouldn't go behind the wall just now. Why? Well, you see, Dirk and Mary are back there and ...
 I don't care ... do it!
 hey Nat — next year, right?
 why can't we use our C.Y.A. picture?
 hey Jennie — Chuck's is the next house, right?
 who? Arnold Schwarzenegger? nope, haven't seen her.
 the salami was Lisa's fault.
 "whatever ..." — Chuck. CHUCKCHUCKCHUCKERO-O-O-OOO were you there at the great cropper battle?
 Amy, your dessert was here just a minute ago ...
 Brad's gift to Ward was, um, unique, but why did Ward give Jennie a witch?
 I didn't teach them how to crop!
 Why is Andy staring? oh, she's just in Columbus.
 Chuck's car is wrapped in 3 rolls of T.P.? I didn't notice.
 well, we'd know if Jennie hadn't lost her notebook.
 Halloween night? Dirk was a bum, Mary was questionable, Jennie was a football player, Pat was a painter, and Nat was a tramp, of course.
 Lisa said it echoes in there, and yes it is 20:6
 Chuck's in trouble — he missed potty duty again.

In Memoriam

Late night fell heavily
And I wandered through these Vacant and lonely halls.
Voices called out to me.
In them I caught tones of Despondency, desperation, — resignation.
"Be glad it's your turn to go," they said.
"A flood can't be dammed or drained, and There soon won't be much left. The colors
Are too quickly becoming a kaleidoscope."

I looked about for examples to refute the irritating words . . .

I saw assemblies with
A representative few standing;
People receiving those green & white slips,
Sarcasm on the faces of those who had quit,
And sleeping friends who once Used to laugh and try.

I became aware of some whom I followed & respected,
Pacing with sagging faces and shrugged shoulders
Sadly shaking their heads.

I noticed more green papers & white slips to come,
Doorless holes in the walls,
Locks with no keys,
Neatly numbered & contrived command lists
And a room with the blinds always drawn.

Then, a sensation interrupted the lamenting
Voices and mournful images.
Memories came: pieces of times of blitheness, Naiveness and then experience, of victories and Close calls, of vices and firm-bound friends — these All went fleeting by, and I smiled.

I saw that in those memories
It wasn't the doors or the building or the rules
That had been important in My reminiscence.
It had been the people — the human beings in This place, who had Formed certain events into nostalgia.

Once that became apparent,
Those few who stood & cheered and those elders
Whose voices are still strong and taunting
Suddenly loomed above the pessimistic voices.

It is winter now, for sure. But, there Is another season yet to come.
And it will come, as long as there are people,
Those precious few.
And perhaps, as the voices said,
The flood can't be dammed.
But maybe it can be diverted from its Original direction. —Jennie Grimes

The Rubber Room I'll try
To make it a little better Being on S.F.A and on so you don't have to run away from The Place MAY be I'll put some well there's already Girls in The rubber room so an way Good Party and know over doeses this time or don't get caught
Your Partner

Paul

with you.

Bob,

To a kid that died one year ~~ago~~ for I did But not for the same reason good luck and keep on partying

Brian

Bob,
Yo a crazy guy
I met this year.
Remembers all the good times we had in Paul and you and in Science even had though we had a lovely teacher. I miss you

Bob,
To a real Kool kid I met in Homeroom trying to escape from Diana Mortimer & Jane Nelson who turned up their noses when I walked in stoned. I hope y'all have a fantastic summer & me & all you Bridgewater people will have another party sometime.

Adrienne

BOB,

To a real good friend I met in fourth grade
he died once and then was reincarnated I hope you have a real good summer and maybe you can go to Maryland with us stay good and keep partying your friend
Aran

Bob,

To a really nice kid I met in 8th grade be good & take care

Love always
